- The applicant is hereby notified that this International Preliminary Examining Authority transmits herewith the international preliminary examination report and its annexes, if any, established on the international application.
- A copy of the report and its annexes, if any, is being transmitted to the International Bureau for communication to all the elected Offices.

For further details on the applicable time limits and requirements of the elected Offices, see Volume II of the PCT Applicant's Guide.

The applicant's attention is drawn to Article 33(5), which provides that the criteria of novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability described in Article 33(2) to (4) merely serve the purposes of international preliminary examination and that "any Contracting State may apply additional or different criteria for the purposes of deciding whether, in that State, the claimed inventions is patentable or not" (see also Article 27(5)). Such additional criteria may relate, for example, to exemptions from patentability, requirements for enabling disclosure, clarity and support for the claims.

SECTION V:

1) A "first medical use" of compositions comprising biphosphonic acid derivatives is already known from documents D1 to D4 (see the whole documents).

Therefore the subject-matter of claims 13 to 15 is not novel (Article 33 (2) PCT).

2) Closest prior art document for the assessment of claims 1 to 12 is document D2 which discloses the use of such biphosphonates as anticalculus agents in combination with the anticaries agent i.e. sodium or calcium monofluorophosphate for providing anticaries benefits while avoiding adverse effects on silicate filling materials present in the mouth (see the abstract, examples I, XIV, XV and XVI).

The subject-matter of claim 1 differs from this disclosure in that the biphosphonate is the pharmaceutically active compound for the prevention of secondary caries.

Therefore the problem to be solved by the invention was to provide pharmaceutically active compounds other than fluorophosphates for the treatment of secondary caries.

The solution is to use biphosphonates for this purpose.

Since this was not obvious for the person skilled in the art, the subject-matter of claims 1 to 12 involves an inventive step.
